

CONFERENCE WAS BEGUN IN MILTON

SEVENTH DAY BAPTISTS OPENED
SESSIONS YESTERDAY.

FINE PROGRAMS GIVEN

Including a Number of Excellent Addresses Throughout the Day—
Musical Numbers Are Fine.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milton, Wis., Aug. 26.—The big Seventh-Day Baptist conference in this city was opened yesterday morning under auspicious circumstances.
With the city full of visitors from all over the United States, among them
a number of notable speakers and prominent church workers, the conference promises to be a memorable
one.

The sessions were started at ten o'clock by a devotional service, followed by the rendering of the anthem, "Praise to Thee, O God," by Dudley Buck. Reverend L. A. Platts, of the local church, welcomed the visitors to the city and the conference, and a response in behalf of the visitors was made by Rev. P. O. Burdick. Allen
H. West delivered the president's address on "A People of Greater Service." "A Greater Conference" was the topic on which Dr. Wardner Williams gave a fine talk. The work of the morning's sessions was concluded
with the appointment of a committee
on nominations.

In the afternoon the delegates again
assembled and at two o'clock there was the reading of the annual report
of the board of trustees. "Hill Study" was the general subject of the afternoon addresses. Prof. C. L. Clark spoke in an interesting manner on
"Hill Study in Our Colleges," and
"Training the Teacher in the Local Church" was the subject on which
Rev. Walter L. Greene talked. "Hill
Study Circles" was taken up by Rev.
W. B. Burdick. At four o'clock the children's conference was opened, led by Rev. L.
C. Randolph. At the same hour, the conference chorus gave an excellent program of musical numbers. Prof. A.
E. Whitford acted as director.

The evening's program was begun
at 7:30 with a devotional song service,
followed by an anthem, "In Heavenly Love Abiding," by W. E. Brown. At eight o'clock, Dr. Edwin H. Lewis delivered the address of the evening, on
"The Gnostics and the Gospel of John."

Today's Program.
The meetings this morning were started at nine o'clock, with committee conferences. At ten o'clock, the business of the conference was begun.
At 10:30 additional topics were taken up for the morning addresses.
Prof. W. T. Crandall spoke on "Education for the Future," W. H. Ingram,
on "Education for Business," Prof. Paul E. Tietze, on "Education for the Future," and W. B. Burdick, on "Education for the Future." At 11:30
Rev. W. B. Burdick, a discussion
led by President Donahoe C. Davis, followed the speakers.

The missionary society and its work
were talked over this afternoon. Each of the speakers was allowed fifteen minutes for his talk. At 2:10, after the opening exercises, Prof. J. Fred Whitford spoke on "The Home, Its Need of Missionary Activity." A summary of the work in China was given by President W. L. Clark and the corresponding secretary's report was read by Rev. E. B. Saunders. At 3:15,
there was to be a conference on missions, participated in by Dr. A. M.
Hurdick, Rev. G. B. Shaw, Rev. James
Hurley, and Rev. E. P. Lofthorpe.

Four o'clock was the time set for the children's conference, in charge of Rev. L. C. Randolph, and for the conference chorus, led by Prof. A. E.
Whitford. This evening there will be regular devotional song service
with an anthem, "Now the Day is Over," by J. Christopher Marks. The evening's address is to be delivered by Dr. W. C. Daland, president of Milton college, who has chosen for his subject, "Song of Solomon."

Tomorrow's Happenings.
The Education society and the Tract society will occupy the greater part of the time tomorrow, the Education society in the morning, and the Tract society in the afternoon. The following program will be given:

HARRIMAN STOCK AGAIN IS WEAK

LOWEST POINT IN UNION PACIFIC
IN WEEKS.

THE WIZARD IS BETTER

Owner of America's Railroads Is Said
to Be Feeling Easier Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Aug. 26.—The Harriman
stocks were again weak today, Union Pacific being the lowest touched in three weeks.

The sale of stocks the first hour
aggregated 400,000 shares.
The Midway Union Pacific touched
the lowest figure since July 30th, last.
The best information obtainable on Wall street today is that E. H. Harriman is feeling comfortably.

Walter Averell Harriman, eldest son of E. H. Harriman, arrived today from Chicago. All the Harriman children are now here.

The market closed weak and disorderly. Union Pacific stock dropped
over seven points on the wholesale liquidation of the last hour.

An apparently demented man, said
to be John Deyo, of Chicago, was taken in custody today because of his persistent efforts to reach Harriman's house. The man said he wanted to collect several million dollars of back
interest in railroad stocks.

STRIKERS EVICTED FROM THEIR HOMES

Driven Out in Drizzling Storm at the Company's Orders.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 26.—The strike
situation at McKees Rock today presented a scene of pitiful desolation.

In a drizzling rain the families of the striking workers were compelled to vacate the company's houses.
Special Agent Houghton, of the department of justice, who is looking into the charges of poisoning growing
out of the strike, examined a number
of witnesses today, among them
James Goddard of New York, who testified when he had wanted to quit
his work, Samuel Conch, head of the company's service bureau, said: "I go to work there, or I shoot your head off." He refused and was then allowed to leave the plant.

PLAN LEGISLATION AS TO INSURANCE

National Insurance Commissioners
Gathering Lay Schemes for New Laws.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 26.—
The convention of the National Insurance Commissioners adopted the committee reports recommending that
the fraternal insurance company be left to work out its own salvation, and that legislation be advised in various states prohibiting new fraternal
companies from doing business unless they collect rates equal to those prescribed by the fraternal table.

R. R. ORDERS REMOVAL OF THE FIRE TOWER

Structure Containing Fire Alarm System of City of Edgerton
Being Pulled Down.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, Wis., Aug. 26.—The city of Edgerton has been ordered by the railroad company to remove the fire
tower which stood on the railroad's property. So the tower is being pulled down. The present system of fire alarms is considerably ancient and it may be that the businessmen will take some action toward supplanting it with one of a more modern design. An electric fire alarm might be purchased. Under the present system considerable annoyance and delay is caused and the method is very inconvenient. The telephone operators generally have to call up someone to ring the bell. In stormy weather the bell cannot be heard farther than two blocks away
and at every fire call about one-
fourth of the firemen fail to respond
because they cannot hear the bell.

Miss Kathryn Mulligan of Watwin,
Ill., spent last week with Miss Rose Harrington.

Twelve fresh-air children have arrived from Chicago and are being entertained at the homes of Edgerton people. It is a good cause and ought to be encouraged.

Mrs. P. C. Brown and daughter,
Bernice, and Louise Jessup returned from Lake Kegonsa today.

The ladies of the Methodist church
of Albion Prairie visited the Edgerton
church, bringing with them loads of all kinds of good things. A chicken-pie supper was served from which
about forty dollars was realized.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wileman departed last evening for Dakota, where they will prove up a farm. Dr. and Mrs. Myers have moved into the Wileman home to live there during their absence.

terday, and Canyon county also voted

MANY NATIONS AT HUDSON FESTIVAL

Thirty Countries Will Be Represented
at Big Celebration on Hudson River Next Month.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Aug. 26.—Thirty nations
have signified their intention of participating in the celebration to be held on the Hudson river next month
to commemorate the discovery of that waterway by Henry Hudson and of the first successful application of steam to its navigation by Robert Fulton in 1807. Some of them are going to send merely a distinguished citizen, while others will delegate a personal representative and also a ship or more naval vessels. The naval parade will be the greatest affair of the kind seen in this vicinity since the opening of the Harlem ship canal.

Among the nations that will be represented are Japan, Great Britain, the Netherlands, Mexico, Argentina,
France, Germany, Brazil, Italy, Australia, Sweden and Russia.

Great Britain is to send a squadron,
made up of the Drake, Argyle and the Duke of Edinburgh, under the command of Rear Admiral Frederick T.
Hendall, one of the most distinguished officers of the royal navy.

France has declared her intention to send three battleships, and the navies
of Italy and Germany will also be well represented. Mexico will send the cruiser Bravo, while Argentina will be represented by the warship Sarriento.

Being thus suddenly thrust into the
limelight is probably exceedingly dis-
tasteful to the young princess, who is said to have inherited to the full her mother's innate timidity. Long appreciated by her family "Her Royal Highness," the Duchess of Gloucester,
comes more reticent at times on, and
perhaps the most completely miserable day she ever spent was when she was inaugurated by the King's command, the great exhibition of this row a few months after the death of the late Queen Victoria.

Princess Alexandra, in her nineteenth year, in appearance she is like her grandmother, Queen Alexandra, having the same clear skin, delicate features and soft blue eyes. Like the Queen, too, she is gentle in voice
and manner.

Almost the entire life of the young
princess has been spent in the free
Scottish highlands, at Mar Lodge, in Aberdeenshire. She is most at home
when tramping over the open country,
or when casting for trout or salmon
in the river Deveron. Until her recent debut she had had little chance
to acquaint herself with the ways of the world at large, and was practically a stranger to society in London or
at court.

Her girl friends have been the daughters of humble folk on the Fife estates. For years she has been the constant companion of her invalid
mother, who is one of the most quiet,
unaffected, and unobtrusive of all the ladies of the British reigning family.

In connection with her rumored
betrothal to the King of Portugal, it is interesting to note that Princess Alexandra is still plump in succession to the British crown, besides being, by special remainder, heiress to her father's dukedom. These possible honors, however, sit but lightly upon her.

TRIAL OF NILES IN WINDY CITY TODAY

William E. Niles, Broker, Brought Into Court to Answer to Charges
of Swindling.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Aug. 26.—The case of William E. Niles, the Chicago broker who was arrested a short time ago on a charge of having swindled ex-Governor
and Andrew E. Lee of South Dakota,
was called for trial today. The trouble
arose over the ownership of a Michigan electric railroad in which $50,000 on the misrepresentation of the broker. Statements of counsel indicate that the matter may be settled
out of court in a manner satisfactory
to both parties.

Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Aug. 26.—What promises
to be the most successful turnbund
tournament for the southern chun-
tion of North America began in this city
today and will continue until Monday.
The Bohemian quarter of the city,
radiating from Eighteenth and Halsted streets, is fully decorated for the occasion. Twenty thousand or more visitors are expected to attend the tournament. Hundreds of active turn-bund will participate in the different events and exhibitions. They come from all parts of the United States
and several are here from Europe.

Growth and Development of Express,

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Detroit, Mich., Aug. 26.—The
growth and development of express
business of long-distance passenger and freight business were the principal topics discussed by the Central Electric Railway association at a meeting held today at the Cadillac hotel in this city. The meeting was attended by executive officials and other representatives of the leading interurban lines of Indiana, Ohio and

MAY PAY VISIT TO ENGLISH PRINCESS

Rumor Says King Manuel of Portugal May Go to England Concerning Betrothal of Princess Alexandra.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Aug. 26.—The announcement that King Manuel of Portugal
is going to pay a visit to England and
the intention that his visit is connected with his betrothal to Princess Alexandra, daughter of the Duke of Fife and granddaughter of King Edward, has had the effect this week of throwing the great white light of publicity upon that young lady, who has
only recently been presented to society.

Her picture today adorns the
front page of many of the weeklies,
while the society journals devote
much space to her.

limelight is probably exceedingly dis-

this city, have completed arrangements for the dedication tomorrow of a boulder monument in memory of Hamlin Hamlin, the celebrated Missouri statesman who was elected to the Vice Presidency of the United States. The dedication will mark the centennial of Hamlin's birth. The event will be accompanied by interesting exercises in which Governor
Fernald, ex-Secretary of the Navy
John D. Long, United States Senator
Eugene Hale and other notables
will take part.

A NOTED DIVINE SHORT OF FUNDS

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INLAND

Board of Directors Appraising His Property to Make Up Shortage.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Ashland, Aug. 26.—The Reverend Stanley E. Lathrop, for a number of years financial agent and treasurer
of the North Wisconsin inland college,
an educational institution, has been found
short in its accounts, the amount being stated as $5,000, by the board of trustees which has just completed an investigation of Lathrop's books.

Lathrop is well known in Beloit.
As a result of the investigation his property, valued at several thousand dollars, is being appraised, and will be turned over to the college.

Mr. Lathrop, until a couple of months ago, was a member of the Ashland school board and has been a leader in the G. A. R. and in temperance and college work, and these revelations have created a decided sensation.

CONTESTANTS.

The ballot box will be opened
next Tuesday morning for the last count until the final
count of Saturday evening,
September 4th at 9 o'clock.

This means that the ballot box
will be OPEN to receive your ballots but all ballots deposited
after 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, Aug. 31st, will remain in the box until the final count of Sept. 4th. The standings at their appear in the issue of Wednesday, Sept. 1st, will remain the same after the final
counting until after the final count of Sept. 4th. The contest department will receive subscriptions
and issue ballots until 9 o'clock
the evening of Sept. 4th.

THE CONTEST WILL POSI-TIVELY CLOSE AT THAT HOUR ON THAT DATE.

The contest manager feels that it is now high time to give a word
of advice to the contestants. Just three days remain in this great
contest and the opportunity days
in your lives. Up to the present time no girl in any of the three districts has a walking-away
prize. The management is glad it is with this result in view that we are always giving these liberal discounts. We wish to add the girl who was late in starting. Read our announcement about Second Payments and see how easily you can catch up with the foremost ones. Just set your alarm clock
for an hour earlier during the next few days and spend that added hour in subscription-getting.
The contest is won by nobody as yet,
but the next nine days will tell
the story. Another thing, don't waste your time trying to figure out how
your old subscriptions can be successfully turned in as now. It can't be done and you stand the chance of losing your ballot if you try it. The motto of the contest is "Fairness
to All."

Time to Bring in Subscriptions.

Now is the time to gather in those
promised subscriptions and turn them

THEATRE

When the curtain goes up on the performance of "Lo" at the Myers theatre Friday evening, the audience is promised a rare musical and artistic treat. The story of "Lo" is based upon O. Henry's tale of "The Last of the Summer Wine," which appeared last fall in short story form. Together with Franklyn P. Adams he has combined it into a play, and the lyrics have been written by A. Baldwin Sloane, Edward P. Temple, the man who made famous the Hippodrome productions in New York, has staged the opera and the dances are something new and entirely out of the common.

The performance is under the auspices of the Janesville lodge of Elks

who have purchased the show for the evening from the Harry Askins company. It is by far the finest musical comedy that will be seen in Janesville this season, and carries with it two sixty-foot earlands of scenery aside from the seventy-five people in the cast.

The Davidson theatre orchestra of Milwaukee will augment the musicians carried by the company, adding a new and pleasing feature to the entire attraction. The company comes from here to Milwaukee, on Saturday, and opens the fall season at the Davidson theatre on Sunday evening. Later it is booked in Chicago for a long run, opening some time in November.

HAY RIDE FATAL TO TWO.
Fifteen Children Hurt at Sunday School Picnic in Iowa.

Fort Dodge, Ia., Aug. 26.—Two children were killed and 15 injured, several of them seriously, at Humboldt when a hayrack carrying a Methodist Sunday school picnic was overturned, hurling the children down a seven-foot embankment.

The dead were Alma Wilder, aged 12, and Ruth Paucott, aged 10 years.

While stopping at the bottom of a hill the horses backed up and the rack overturned. William W. Wallace, who drove the team, is crazed by grief.

CARS DERAILED ON THE NORTH-WESTERN AT SHARON

Early morning passenger trains were forced to go by way of Beloit today on account of an accident to an extra freight train at Sharon last night. One of the trucks on a box-car broke loose and derailed several cars which tied up the traffic. Trains 502, 512, 514 and 506 were forced to go south by way of Beloit instead of through Janesville.

NEED ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN AT ONCE

A bulletin signed by E. H. Wade just received states that both engineers and firemen are needed on the Dakota Division for about three months' work. It is possible that several from Janesville, especially firemen, will apply for positions. The yearly rush of traffic on this division, caused by the great amount of grain that is harvested, is responsible for the demand for more men. Extra engines have been sent west and nearly all the type B locomotives from this section are in the wheat belt ready for service.

Engineer S. G. Smith brought engine 870 up double-head from Chicago last night on 587 and Engineer Meyer took the engine north double-head on 587 for service on the Dakota Division.

Engineer Gestland and Fireman Ashley are on the board today on account of there being only one switch-engine sent out this morning.

Fireman Garry dispatched last night in place of Engineer Wilson.

Dispatcher-helper Harry Look reported for work this morning, displacing Fireman Lewis, who has been recovering him. Lewis went on the board.

Engineer James Wilson acted as night foreman last night during the absence of M. A. Heath.

Fireman Dalton acted as dispatcher-helper last night in place of J. Green, who is laying off sick.

Switchman Fraunfelder is taking a vacation until the first of the month.

Engine 41, which has been in the house for the past three weeks, was sent out on 530 this morning in charge of Engineer Lopper. She looked as nice as a pair of four-toes to the fellow who is drawing two cards with three aces in his hand and a big Jack Pot on the table.

Switchman John Clough took Neil Cronin's place on the switch-engine today.

John Kay reported for work this morning after spending a week in town.

William Cochran, "Wee Lottie," is laying off today on account of the "Shitters," a disease caused by too much cosmétique in a stage make-up.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul TWO FAIR SPECIALS ON THE ST. PAUL TODAY

Two Burlington Fair Special trains were sent out of Janesville this morning. Conductor Corwin, Engineer Wilkinson and Fireman Rooney took the first out this morning at three o'clock with engine 505. Conductor Gallagher, Engineer Meyer and Fireman Wright took the second special out this morning at 7:20 with engine 580.

Fireman John Hummel passed the firemen's examinations successfully and is making a student trip today on the 1941.

Fireman Engh went back on run 192 last night with Engineer Kohler.

Engineer Scholker and Fireman Mahoney took out 165 this morning.

Brakeman Ed. Griffin and Switchman Connel went out on the 7:20 special to Burlington this morning.

Engineer Casey took Mann's place on 194 yesterday.

Word was received at the station this morning that James Gregory's little child is sinking fast and the request made that he be informed as quickly as possible. The father is on the road and it is not thought possible that he can be reached in time to forestall the grim reaper.

BOOST POSTAGE TO WIPE OUT DEFICIT

HITCHCOCK CALLS CONFERENCE TO CONSIDER INCREASE IN RATES.

REGISTERED LETTERS FIRST

Cost Will Be Raised from Eight to Ten Cents—Money Orders Come Next and Railroads Will Get Less for Transportation.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Postmaster General Hitchcock has called a conference of postal officials which has for its object the increasing of rates of registering letters from eight to ten cents, an advance in the cost of money orders and a decrease in the price paid to railroads for carrying the mails. The action will be taken to wipe out a deficit in Uncle Sam's post office business.

The conference will be held here Monday. Postal officials from various parts of the country who have knowledge of the operations of the registry division, the money order division and the railway mail service will be on hand to give their views.

Officials Are Called.
The registry officials invited to the conference with the postmaster general are:

James H. Bennett, Chicago; E. S. Post and Edmund Sunda, New York; Alden B. Weston, Boston; George Boller, Cincinnati; Arthur H. Potts, Indianapolis; B. Vignaux, Atlanta; Robert H. Sleby, Kansas City; John A. Leathers, Louisville; Henry Smith, St. Louis; W. G. Duff, Pittsburg; Charles C. Kellogg, Detroit; Marvin S. Burke, Buffalo; L. A. Abbott, Baltimore; Thomas McLeister, Philadelphia.

Announcement of the proposed change was made by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The decision of Mr. Hitchcock to increase the registry fee followed an extended inquiry into the registry system by a special committee appointed by the postmaster general. Mr. Hitchcock and the members of the committee had a long conference today.

To Increase Registry Fee First.
It is understood to be Mr. Hitchcock's purpose to take up the registry system first in considering all branches of the postal service for reorganization wherever greater efficiency and less expenditure may be effected. It is thought that the service may be placed on a more business-like basis without working undue hardship or imposing unreasonable burdens on the public.

In his talk with a number of the delegates who attended the recent annual convention of the National Association of First Class Postmasters at Toledo, Mr. Hitchcock learned they were almost unanimously of the opinion that any increase in the registry fee from 8 to 10 cents would not be opposed when it was understood that the government was losing several million dollars through the present system of operation.

Railroad's Turn Next.
The annual deficit has constantly been pointed to by foes of government operation of the postal system as an argument in favor of private operation.

To this the friends of government operation reply that some of the railroads have been getting about ten times as much as they should get for carrying the mails, and that not enough is charged for the registry and money order service rendered the people.

Talk for Postal Banks.
Beverly, Mass., Aug. 26.—President Taft indicated in talks with callers that in his message to congress next December he will strongly urge the early establishment of a postal savings bank system. Influential members of both the senate and house are urging that the matter be left over until the monetary commission has made its report and ensuing financial legislation has been disposed of.

Picks His Coffin, Ends Life.
Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 26.—Henry G. McKenzie, an undertaker, shot himself to death in his establishment, after having written a note designating in which of the coffins he had in stock he should be buried. He said "worry over business had driven him insane."

Roof Falls; Four Hurt.
Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 26.—Four men were seriously injured and heavy damage caused when the roof of the Twenty-eighth street roundhouse of the Pennsylvania railroad collapsed.

Sure Sign.
When you wake up at daylight and can't get to sleep again, it's a sign it's a holiday.

Postmaster General Hitchcock.

ert H. Sleby, Kansas City; John A. Leathers, Louisville; Henry Smith, St. Louis; W. G. Duff, Pittsburg; Charles C. Kellogg, Detroit; Marvin S. Burke, Buffalo; L. A. Abbott, Baltimore; Thomas McLeister, Philadelphia.

STRANGE DEATH FOLLOWS EMBEZZLEMENT OF $40,000

Prosecuting Attorney at York, Pa., Short in Accounts with Loan Company.

York, Pa., Aug. 26.—The people of this county are amazed by the revelation that the man they had elected to prosecute evil doers and violators of the law, was himself an embezzler to the extent of $40,000. The announcement was made following the death—whether by poison self-administered, or heart disease, has not yet been determined—of District Attorney William A. Ammon.

The cause of his death is surrounded with mystery. Doctors who examined the body declare that death was caused by heart trouble. He had purchased at a local drug store one pound of cyanide of potassium, announcing at the time that he wished to use it in making experiments with copper. He complied with the formality of the law regulating the sale of poisons by signing his name to a certificate in the presence of the drug clerk.

For 15 years prior to the fall of 1908 Mr. Ammon was secretary of the Standard Building and Loan association of this city. The association was capitalized at $500,000. Ammon had custody of the association's funds while in office. D. V. Johnson, an expert connected with a Philadelphia firm of accountants, had been recently employed to go over Ammon's accounts. Mr. Johnson issued a statement in which he says:

"I have discovered the fact that the funds of the association had been systematically misappropriated by the former secretary, W. L. Ammon. The examination has not at this time been completed, so that the extent of the embezzlement by the secretary cannot be approximated, but as the work proceeds the amount grows larger. After interviews with Mr. Ammon, one of which was last night, he offered no explanation and admitted the shortage and his sole custody of the funds of the association while in office, and it was during his administration that the shortage occurred."

URGES ATTENTION BY JUDGES.

Michigan Jurist Gives Advice to Bench at Bar Meeting.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 26.—The villa of legal argument based on misconception of testimony were touched upon in the address of Justice William L. Carpenter of Michigan, on "Courts of Last Appeal," before the American Bar association. As a remedy Justice Carpenter urged judges to assume a more attentive attitude in court and encourage lawyers to make fair statements.

Gov. Augustus Wilton of Kentucky spoke on "The People and Their Law," and in the course of his address interesting incidents were presented concerning the "Night Rider" depredations in Kentucky's tobacco war.

DRASTIC "DRY" LAWS SIGNED.

Alabama to Be Liquorless State Under New Statutes.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 26.—The whole code of prohibition laws passed by the legislature was signed by the governor, including the Fuller bill, about which there has been so much talk all over the country. Others prevent the use or distribution of liquors in clubs, make it unlawful for foreign corporations to break the temperance laws; provide for impeachment of sheriffs who refuse to obey the laws; make it the duty of municipalities to fix and enforce prohibition laws like those in effect in the state; prevent soft drink stands from using screens or storing liquors of any kind and prevent gambling by prohibiting barred doors in any public place or the use therein of electric bells, dumbwaiters or other like machinery.

FINDS PEARL WORTH $2,600.

Rare Gem Taken from the Wabash River in Illinois.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Aug. 26.—George Rutledge found a pearl in the Wabash river weighing 46 grains, which he sold for $2,600. The jewel is the largest ever taken from the stream, and the finder has been engaged in pearl fishing for years, with varying success.

Rutledge will receive enough from his find to buy a fleet of mussel boats, which he will use to gather shells and look for pearls.

Honey Will Not Prosecute.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 26.—Francis J. Henry says he will not prosecute the land fraud cases against Hager Hermann, former commissioner of the general land office. He said the matter now rests with Attorney General Wickersham.

Three Killed by Runaway Train.

Inkersfield, Cal., Aug. 26.—Two brakemen and the engineer of a south-bound freight on the Southern Pacific railway were killed when the train was wrecked on the steep grade between the top of Telachapi pass and Mojave.

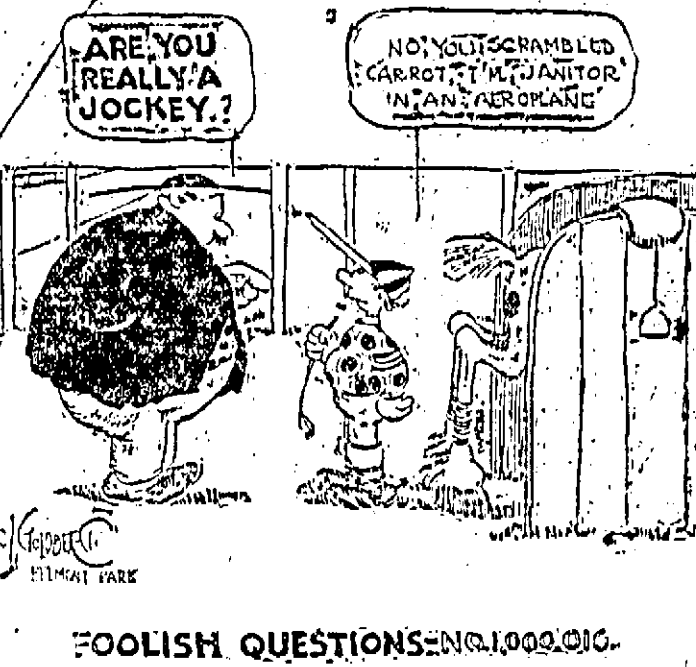

15 Killed, 30 Hurt in Mine.

Mexico City, Aug. 26.—A special dispatch from Mitenahula says 15 miners were killed and 30 imprisoned by the dropping of a cage into the La Paz mine. The men dropped 1,500 feet.

CONDITIONS HAVE CHANGED

When we talk of the high prices

paid today for articles which ten

years ago were much cheaper we do not stop to consider the change in conditions. The following little story of a Kansas farmer will illustrate better than can otherwise be explained

what is really meant by the change of

conditions:

William Hughes is one of the prosperous farmers of Reno county. He went there from Illinois twenty-four years ago when droughts, short crops

and low prices of farm products were the rule rather than the exception. A recent object lesson served to remind

Farmer Hughes that conditions have changed in Kansas, and he delights in telling about it.

In 1894 Mr. Hughes went to Hutchinson and bought a farm wagon for $60. It was a good wagon, but the

fifteen years of constant service made

it necessary to discard it, and so a few days ago Hughes went to the same dealer to buy a new wagon and

told him he wanted one just like he purchased fifteen years ago for $60.

"I can sell you the identical wag-

on," the dealer told Hughes, "but it will cost you $70."

This caused Farmer Hughes to "go into the air," and he entered a vigorous protest against a ten-dollar

"hold-up." The merchant did everything in his power to pacify Hughes

and finally told him he would sell him

the wagon on the same terms as agreed upon fifteen years ago. That was satisfactory to Hughes and the two men refreshed their memories.

The merchant said:

"You paid for the wagon you bought

in 1894 in corn, and if I remember

correctly you brought me 600 bushels

of corn at 10 cents a bushel. Now

you bring me 600 bushels of corn,

and I will give you this wagon. In addition, your wife may select a $125

surround, you can have the best self-

blender worth $125; then you have an

$50 kitchen range, and $20 worth of kitchen furniture, all for 600 bushels

of corn. The wagon at $70 and the other items foot up $420—600 bushels

of corn at 70 cents a bushel, $420."

CHEAP COMPETITORS

It is a frequent complaint here

that the American workman, certainly among the most intelligent in the world, cannot afford to risk competition with the cheap labor of India,

China or Japan, to say nothing of those countries of Europe where the cost of living is relatively low on account of the low standard of comfort,

and where wages also run on a scale

which would make living impossible

in the United States.

It is interesting to know that civilization of the Occidental kind tends to level up this disparity. A traveler

in South Central Africa, less than twenty years ago, when the Cape to

Cairo railroad had only extended as far as Vryburg in British Bechuanaland,

points out that he paid his native

"boys" ten shillings, or a blanket

of that value, monthly, and that the native found his own food. With the extension of the railway five hundred

miles farther north wages in Mashonaland

had tripled and the employer

fed his servants. Wages there now,

since the railroad has opened up the

country, are not far from the scale of

unskilled negro labor in the south.

We can be very sure that with the opening up of China by railways

wages there will advance with equal rapidity. The workman can, to a certain extent, protect himself, and better means of communication enable him to compare his services with the world's standard of their value. The consequence is that he tends constantly to exact more and more until low wages are a factor in production equalize themselves the world over.

With the advent of western civilization the standard of comfort rises, and with it, for obvious reasons, the standard of intelligence also. The workman's interest in life is broadened. He is better fed. He no longer subsists on the verge of starvation. He is a better man for all these reasons and he does better work. Wages in Japan have increased enormously since that country adopted western methods, and, indeed, we may say that a principal argument of those who prefer to trust to artificial fiscal barriers rather than a high standard of intelligence among the workers is rapidly being removed under the influence of western commercial enterprise.

In India the best paid labor is in those districts with the most effective means of transportation. Wherever the railroad connects a district with outer western civilization wages advance, and yet it is worth while to remember that the building of factories goes on in exactly those districts. Capital, in fact, is learning the economy of effective labor rather than cheap labor, and in the modern sense of production absolutely unskilled labor is never cheap.

The thought is commended to all our amateur economists. When order has been restored in Pittsburgh the Pressed Steel Car Co., with a converted president or a new one, will do well to recognize the economic force of the argument.

VALUE OF CROPS IN 1909

A careful analysis of the quantities and prices of the principal crops of the country in advance of the Department returns of the Department of Agriculture, places the entire gross income of the farms of the country at $3,481,000,000. Of this grand total fourteen cereal crops, together with tobacco, wool and other yields, contribute $1,695,000,000, and several other groups of farm products add $3,786,000,000 more.

The corn crop alone, at the low estimate of fifty cents a bushel at the farm for an indicated yield of 3,030,000,000 bushels contributes an income of $1,515,000,000. Next in order comes the cotton crop, valued with cotton seed at $790,000,000, followed by the hay crops, wheat and oats. These results, compared with earlier years, are very substantial proof of the great progress which the country has made in its agricultural wealth. Compared, however, with 1908, there is no great increase in the aggregate for all crops combined. In fact, there is a slight decrease from the total estimated in this office of $3,497,000,000 a year ago. Where quantities are larger, prices are lower, and vice versa, so that the grand total comes out about even with that of 1908.

As compared with thirty years ago, the principal crops have increased in value from $2,213,000,000 in 1879 to $3,481,000,000 in 1908. The former estimate was that of the Census Bureau and the latter by the Department of Agriculture. The increase in these three decades was at the rate of 58.4%.

For the period of ten years, beginning with 1898, the annual advance has been steadily increasing. The addition to the crop values, year by year for that period, was $313,100,000, or a total increment of $3,131,000,000. How rapid this was is shown by contrast with the twenty-year period from 1879 to 1898, when an increase of $2,504,000,000 was made in twice the length of the latest decade.

Harriman had no trouble in getting past Ellis Island despite the fact he was a sick man. Probably Ellis Island officials remembered that he owned a few railroads and would not become a burden upon the nation even if he was sick.

Worthless curs that bark and snap at children should be tied up and given a chance to vent their anger on their owners' families. If Janesville had a good dog license regulation this evil would be averted.

McKee's Rocks is still the center of public interest, both pro and con, and the burial of the victims has not settled the matter by any means.

Hetty Green's son is also canny. He has been using his aeroplane to advertise Texas land.

Murdoch's way of roasting Spenser Cannon went off that worthy's back as water does from a duck's.

To watch the calm demeanor of President Taft is good for disordered nerves.

That pure food convention is showing how too many cooks can spoil the broth.

Everything considered Mr. Jerome of New York is a pretty fast team all by himself.

Mr. Harriman found the ocean's rounded badly ballasted.

THE WHY OF SUICIDE.

Suicide is said to be increasing.

An eminent authority declares that suicide is as frequent today in this country as in the early days of the Roman empire.

Why is it?

Ordinarily we say of the unfortunate who rashly shuffles off this mortal coil, "The poor fellow must have been insane."

Which in a sense is correct. But—

When you come to think of it the wonder is there are not more suicides.

Complex conditions in our large cities tend to lower physical and mental vitality. Discouragement and failure lead to mental dejection and dissatisfaction.

However—

It safely may be stated that at the bottom the greatest source of suicide is SELFISHNESS.

"No man liveth to himself." No man can live a normal, healthful life of himself, by himself and for himself. The self-centered person can only travel in a circle—within himself. He gets nowhere.

Contrariwise, the man who lives outside of self, who lives in others, seldom thinks of suicide. He is too much interested in the ongoing of things to stop and balance up his personal ledger. He does not cry about spilled milk. He is glad just to live.

Suicide is a disease.

Its symptoms are moral and physical degeneracy. Weakened in mind or body, the would-be suicide shuts himself up in his personal shell and broods. He has become sour, sore, disillusioned. Existence is tiresome.

He concludes that life is not worth while. Having no outlet to the wider world of love and sympathy and helpfulness, he slowly rots in his own mental dejection.

Whereas—

He who keeps in touch with the world and loves it develops in himself a moral and physical vitality, a courage and an optimism that meet failure with fortitude and overcome it.

Some one has answered the query, "Is life worth living?" by the sententious statement:

"It all depends on the liver."

Which is absolutely true in which ever sense you take it.

Therefore the secret of mental, moral and physical health and satisfaction is to—

Keep in love with life.

Keep out of yourself.

Get into the swim.

Get busy.

A USEFUL MAN.

Company Director—We have divided up the work so that each one of the directors has a fair share to do. Higgins is secretary, I am treasurer and Spriggs is—

James—Why Spriggs is so deaf that he can't hear thunder. What does he do?

Company Director—Oh, all the complaints are referred to him.

Swearing.

The real truth is that in a vast majority of cases swearing is simply a vulgar practice, through which the blasphemer hopes to give weight and authority to his statements. Or it may indicate the weakness of unbridled passion.—Indianapolis Star.

Innocent.

By fooling with the hammer of a gun a little dog shot its master the other day. To give the incident an even more human touch it may be added that the dog didn't know the gun was loaded.

PITCHER HARRY WALTERS.

Young Walters is one of the pitchers that is bringing the front in the American league this season. Although this is his first year in the big circle, Walters has pitched great ball, this best work has been done against Detroit, so that in this way he is doubly valuable to the Boston team that is now giving the Tigers such a race.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—A thousand delegates were present at the opening sessions of the League of American Municipalities today.

No Chinatown Drunkards.
A drunken Chinese is a rare sight in the streets of New York. The unofficial government of Chinatown which administers the high, the low and the middle justices inexorably takes care of this. HAPKE SUES FOR EXTRA SERVICES

Depositions Are Being Taken Here in Action Against Capt. James Davidson.

Theodore Hapke, who superintended the removal of the Rock County Sugar Co.'s plant from its former location in Canada to this city, has commenced an action against Capt. James Davidson of Bay City, Mich., to recover several thousand dollars for alleged extra services in the way of securing the location here, obtaining necessary permits, and so forth, and depositions are being taken from C. S. Jackson, A. E. Blumhagen, F. S. Winslow, Walter A. E. Blumhagen, and other witnesses in his behalf. Capt. Davidson and his attorney, D. M. Hall, came here this week in order to be present at the examinations. The evidence taken will be presented in the court at Bay City when the case is called for trial.

GOING TO MADISON TO SEE COMMISSION

City Attorney Maxfield Anxious About Water And Gas Cases Now Pending.

City Attorney Maxfield is going to Madison to make a personal investigation regarding the delay in bringing up the water and gas cases which the city is interested in. These cases have been continued for some months now and Mr. Maxfield received word that no decision would be given in either by September first. "I do not understand this delay," he said this morning, "and shall go to Madison to confer with members of the commission relative to the matter. I trust that the two cases which are of vital interest to the citizens of Jansville can be soon adjusted and hope for a favorable ruling by the commission on the points raised."

Relative to the street car case, Mr. Maxfield said: "Under their franchise there is a clause which states that notice of complaint must be served upon the company, giving them sufficient time for either remedying the defects or answering. This notice has been served, but as I could not get the case into the October term of court, have delayed in filing the complaint so that the company can not have the excuse they did not have sufficient time after the notification was served. As it now stands it will come up in the February term of court."

EXPERT GOLFERS TO PLAY IN SHEBOYGAN

Enthusiasts From All Over State Will Attend Invitation Tournament Held There.

[Special to the Gazette.]
Sheboygan, Wis., Aug. 25.—The invitation golf tournament of the Sheboygan Country Club, in which clubs from all over the state will be represented, opens Friday, August 27, and lasts over Saturday. Several entertainments for the visitors are being arranged. Among the trophies offered are three silver cups and several other articles.

The contracts for paying Eighth St., the main street of Sheboygan, were awarded to H. H. & Van De Bogert, they being the lowest bidders. The bids were advertised for a second time because the first bids were too high.

Local talent, under the direction of Charles Schuber, will present "The German Play," "Ein Welscher Kabe," at the Concordia Hall, on Sunday, September 5.

Charles Birge, yardmaster in the Northwestern yards here, is laid up at his home with a broken leg, sustained when the handle of a derrick flew off and struck him in the leg. While loading stones on a car a workman lost control of the machine and Birge attempted to prevent damage to the stone and car by stopping the turning handle. His injury is no serious.

J. J. Carly, local agent of the C. & N. W. Ry., has been transferred to the agency at Rockford, Ill., his former home. He has been agent here for slightly over a year. A. C. Hill, car of the Adams street station in Chicago, will succeed Mr. Carly.

NO FOUL PLAY IN JOHN ELLIS' CASE

Fact That He Died Natural Death Definitely Established by Autopsy Yesterday.

All of the ugly suspicions entertained in Beloit, Hoscove, and elsewhere with reference to the sudden death of John Ellis on his Illinois farm, about four miles south and east of Beloit last Monday, were set at rest yesterday as the outcome of an inquest yesterday conducted by Coroner McAllister, Dr. E. H. Wolf, and Dr. D. W. Day. The physicians performed an autopsy on the body, opening the skull and also examining the trunk. They found a considerable hemorrhage into the ventricle of the brain, causing apoplexy, and nothing whatever abnormal about the stomach. As a consequence of this the jury impelled to investigate the death returned a verdict finding that death was caused by apoplexy. In the light of these developments it appears that the fears entertained by the deceased that certain individuals on the farm were seeking his life were entirely unwarranted.

BAND REUNION WAS A GRAND SUCCESS

Celebration at Brodhead Was One of Best Ever Held in That City. Immense Crowds Attending.

[Special to the Gazette.]
Brodhead, Aug. 25.—The band reunion yesterday drew a big crowd to Brodhead. Seven bands were present, as follows: The Baker Manufacturing Co.'s band of Evansville, Ladies' band of Beloit, New Glarus band, Albany Cornet band, Ladies' band of Durand, the Brodhead Juvenile band and Brodhead City band. There was speaking in the city park and music galore. In the afternoon there was a game of baseball between a picked up team of players and the Evansville White Sox, which resulted in a victory for the latter; score, 5 to 3. Dinner and supper were furnished the band boys and others by the ladies of the M. E. church. There was a big dance by Brodhead's opera-house in the evening with music by Leaver's large orchestra of Beloit and a large crowd was present. The general verdict is that the band reunion was one of the nicest events ever held in Brodhead and our citizens will look with pleasure to a time when it will be held here again. At the business meeting held at five o'clock the following officers were elected: J. Jacob Fied of New Glarus was re-elected president; E. W. Scott of Beloitville was elected vice-president, and E. Libby of Evansville was elected secretary. The next reunion will be held in Evansville.

Mrs. Abbie Cole and sister, Miss Essie Manning, Misses Mayne and Jessie Kelley and Jessie Nolly, and Messrs. P. E. Nolly, Floyd Nolly.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"I'm not going to think about my vacation until it's almost time to go." I heard a girl say the other day, "because if I do and anything happens I'll be so disappointed."

"But isn't it too bad to miss all the pleasure of anticipation?" I asked.

"Oh, I never allow myself to look forward to things," she answered. "I've been disappointed too many times."

I know many people who look at life that way and I think they are very foolish.

There is no happiness in life quite as ideal and untarnished as that of anticipation.

Isn't teaching oneself to forego the pleasures of anticipation simply because one may sometimes suffer disappointment almost as foolish as it would be to go about the world with one's eyes shut, looking at the beautiful things of life because one might see the ugly ones?

More than once I have heard old people say "Anticipation has been fully more than half the happiness in my life."

And if those close to the journey's end don't know something of the joys and sorrows by the way, who should?

A neighbor of mine often makes some plan for her children's pleasure—a birthday party—a picnic—a trip to the circus, and then does not tell them anything about it until a day or two before the great event lest they become too much excited over it.

It seems to me that much of what her right hand gives, her left hand takes away.

For if looking forward is half the joy at any other time of life, it is even more than that in childhood before many disappointments have come to mar one's powers of anticipation.

"Oh, dear, now I haven't got anything more to look forward to," is childhood's frequent wail after some great event.

Of course, there is such a thing as allowing anticipation of a future pleasure to spoil one's enjoyment of present happiness, and that I think is foolish.

A girl who had been on a drive to one of the special points of interest near our summer home said to me when she returned: "I really didn't enjoy the drive over half as much as I did the drive back, and it was simply because going over I was looking forward all the time to what I was going to see when I reached there."

If one thinks of the frosting all the time one eats the cake so intensely that one doesn't enjoy the cake, it isn't a good plan to save the frosting, but that is no reason why one should not set all the pleasure one possibly can out of anticipating one's cake for supper.

There are none too many pleasures for most of us in this world and if it's possible by anticipation to have any of them two-fold, why not do it?

He sat motionless, and his thoughts ran madly from hope to despair and back again to hope. The water was going down, beyond question; if it was merely draining itself through the sand to some subterranean channel, he was lost, but if it was flowing away through any passage like the one by which he had entered, there was still a chance of escape—a very small chance. When death is at the gate the faintest loophole looks wide enough to crawl through.

The surface of the pool subsided, but there was no loophole; and as the traveler watched, hope sank in his heart. Like the water in the hollow of the sand, but Baraka slept on peacefully, curled up on her side like a little wild animal. When the pool was almost dry the traveler crept down to the edge and drank his fill, that he might not begin to thirst sooner than need be; and just then day dawned suddenly and the warm darkness gave way to a cool light in a few moments.

Immediately, because it was day, Baraka stretched herself on the sand and then sat up; and when she saw what the traveler was doing she also went and drank as much as she could swallow, for she had understood why he was drinking as soon as she saw that the pool was nearly dry. When she could drink no more she looked up at the rocks high overhead, and they were already white and red and yellow in the light of the risen sun; for in that country there is no very long time between dark night and broad day.

Baraka sat down again, on the spot where she had slept, but she said nothing. The man was trying to dig a little hole in the wet sand with his hands, beyond the water that was still left, for perhaps he thought that if he could make a pit on one side, some water would stay in it; but the sand ran together as soon as he moved it; and presently, as he bent over, he felt that he was sinking into it himself, and understood that it was a sort of quicksand that would suck him down. He therefore threw himself flat on his back, stretching out his arms and legs, and making movements as if he were swimming; he worked his way from the dangerous place till he was safe on the firm white beach again. He sat up then, and bent his head till his forehead pressed on his hands, and he shut his eyes to keep out the light of day. He had not slept, as Baraka had, but he was not sleepy; perhaps he would not be able to sleep again before the end came. Baraka watched him quietly, for she understood that he despised life, and she wondered what he would do; and, besides, he seemed to her the most beautiful man in the world, and she loved him, and she was going to die with him.

It comforted her to think that no other woman could get him now. It was almost worth while to die for that alone; for she could not have borne that another woman should have him since he despised her, and if it had come to pass she would have tried to kill that other. But there was no danger of such a thing now; and he would die first, and she would kill him many times when he was dead, and then she would die also.

The pool was all gone by this time, leaving a funnel-shaped hollow in the sand where it had been. If any water still leaked through from without it lost itself under the sand, and the man and the girl were at the bottom of a great natural well that was quite dry. Baraka looked up, and she saw a vulture sitting in the sun on a pinnacle, 300 feet above her head. He would sit there till she was dead, for he knew what was coming; then he would spread his wings a little and let himself down awkwardly, half-flying and half-scampering. When he had finished, he would sit and look at her on without water, and it did not occur to him that Baraka might be hungry. Perhaps, even if he had known that she was, he would not have given her of what he had; he would have kept it for himself. What was the life of a wild hill-girl compared with his? But the vulture was watching him, as well as Baraka, and would not move from its pinnacle till the end, though days might pass.

Baraka was not thirsty yet, because she had drunk her fill in the morning, and was not used to drink often; it was enough that she could look at the man she loved, for the end would come soon enough without thinking about it. All day long the traveler crouched in the hollow of the ruby cave, and Baraka watched him from her place; when it grew dark the vulture on the pinnacle of rock thrust its ugly head under its wing. As soon as Baraka could not see any more she curled herself up on the white sand like a little wild animal and went to sleep, though she was thirsty.

It was dawn when she awoke, and her linen garment was damp with the dew, so that the touch of it refreshed her. The traveler had come out and was lying prone on the sand, his face buried against his arm, as soldiers sleep in a bivouac. She could not tell whether he was asleep or not, but she knew that he could not see her, and she cautiously sucked the dew from her garment, drawing it up to her mouth and squeezing it between her lips.

It was little enough refreshment, but it was something, and she was not afraid, which made a difference. Just as she had drawn the edge of her shirt down and round her ankles again, the man turned on his side suddenly, and then rose to his feet. For an instant he glared at her, and she saw that his blue eyes were bloodshot and burning; then he picked up the heavy camel bag, and began to make his way round what had been the beach of the pool, towards the passage through which they had entered, and which was now a dry cave, wide below, narrow at the top, and between six or seven feet high. He tread carefully and tried his way, for he feared the quicksand, but he knew that there was now in the passage, since he had felt the way hard under his feet. In a few moments he disappeared under the rock.

Baraka knew what he meant to do; he was going to try to dig through the dam at the entrance to let the water in, even if he could not get out; but she did not move, for in that narrow place and in the dark she could not have helped him. She sat and waited.

By and by he would come out, drenched with sweat and yet parching with thirst, and he would glare at her horribly again; perhaps he would be mad when he came out and would kill her because she had brought him there.

After some time she heard a very faint sound overhead, and when she looked up the vulture was gone from its pinnacle. She wondered at this, and her eyes searched every point and crevice of the rock as far as she could see, for she knew that the evil bird could only have been frightened away; and though it fears neither bird nor beast, but only man, she could not believe that any human being could find a foothold near to where it had perched.

For some seconds, perhaps for a whole minute, she saw nothing, though she gazed up steadily, then she saw that a small patch of snowy white was moving slowly on the face of the cliff, at some distance above the place where the vulture had been. She bent her brow in the effort to see more by straining her sight, and meanwhile the patch descended faster than it seemed possible that a man could climb down that perilous steep. Yet it was a man, she knew from the first, and soon she saw him plainly, in his loose shirt and white turban, and with a long gun slung across his back. Nearer still, and he was down to the jutting pinnacle where the vulture had sat, and she saw his black beard; still nearer by a few feet and she knew him, and then her glance darted to the mouth of the cave, at the other end of which the man she loved was toiling desperately alone in the dark to pierce the dam of earth and stones. It was only a glance, in a second of time, but when she looked up the black-bearded man had already made another step downwards. Baraka measured the distance. If he spoke loud now she could understand him. She knew him well, and she knew why he had come, with his long gun. He was her father's brother's son, to whom she was betrothed; he was Sand, and he was risking his life to come down and kill her and the man whom she had led to the ruby mines for love's sake.

He would come down till he was within easy range, and then he would wait till he had a fair chance at them, when they were standing still, and she knew that he was a dead shot. The traveler's revolver could never carry as far as the long gun. Baraka was sure, and Sand could come quite near with safety, since he seemed able to climb down the face of a flat rock where there was no foothold for a cat. He was still descending, he was getting very near; if the traveler were not warned he might come out of the cave unexpectantly and Sand would shoot him. Sand would wish to shoot him first, because of his revolver, and then he would kill Baraka at his leisure. If he fired at her first the traveler would have a chance at him while he was reloading his old gun. She understood why he had not killed her yet, if indeed he wanted to, it was barely possible that he loved her enough to wait for her alive.

After hesitating for a few moments, not from fear but in doubt, she gathered herself to spring, and made a dash like an antelope along the sand for the mouth of the cave, for she knew that Sand would not risk waiting his shot on her while she was running. She stopped just under the shelter of the rock and called inward: "Sand is coming down the rock with his gun!" she cried. "Load your weapon!"

When she had given this warning she went out again and stood before the mouth of the cave with her back to it. Sand was on the rock, not 50 feet above the ground, at the other side of the natural wall, but looked as if even he could get no farther down. He was standing with both his heels on a ledge so narrow that more than half the length of his brown feet stood over it; he was leaning back, flat against the sloping cliff, and he had his gun before him, for he was just able to use both his hands without falling. He pointed the gun at her and spoke:

"Where is the man?"
"He is dead," Baraka answered without hesitation.
"Dead? Already?"
"I killed him in his sleep," she said, "and I dragged his body into the cave for fear of the vulture, and buried it in the sand. Do not angry, Sand, though he was my father's guest. Come down hither and I will tell all. Then you shall shoot me or take me home to be your wife, as you will, for I am quite innocent."

She meant to entice him within range of the stranger's weapon.
"There is no foothold whereby to get lower," he answered, but he rested the stock of his gun on the narrow ledge behind him.
"Draw out the man's body, that I may see it."

"I tell you I buried it. I killed him the night before last; I cannot dig him up now."

"Why did you run to the mouth of the cave when you saw me, if the man is dead?"

"Because at first I was afraid you would shoot me from above, therefore I took shelter."

"Why did you come out again, if you were in fear?"

"After I had run in I was ashamed, for I felt sure that you would not kill me without hearing the truth. So I came out to speak with you. Got down, and I will show you the man's grave."

"Have I wings? I cannot come down. It is impossible."

Baraka felt a puff of hot air pass over her, just above her right ankle, and at the same instant she heard a sharp report, not very loud, and more like the snapping of a strong but very dry stick than the explosion of firearms. She instinctively sprang to the left, keeping her eyes on Sand.

THEY ALSO BELIEVE. That "man is made of dust." The preachers say is true. Those summer girls who bust U's fellows think so too.

SECRETARY WILSON FIGHTS FOR BENZOATE OF SODA

Question of Preservatives under Discussion Today in Food Convention at Denver.

Denver, Col., Aug. 26.—Before the day is over the Association of National Food and Dairy Departments in convention here, will place a seal of approval or condemnation on benzoate of soda as a preservative for foods.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson was joined by Dr. Ira Hansen of Baltimore, Dr. Russell H. Chittenden of New Haven, Conn., Dr. John H. Long of Evanston, Ill., and Dr. Christian H. Horner of New York city, all members of the House of Representatives, which was created by President Roosevelt in the latter part of his administration to decide upon disputed points in the enforcement of the federal pure food laws.

They appeared before the convention to defend their findings that benzoate of soda is not harmful when used in small quantities. On the other hand, in the association, which is composed of food commissioners and expert chemists from every state, there is a faction which asserts that the Hansen experiments had not been accepted as conclusive, and the question whether benzoate is or is not harmful when taken constantly in the many foods in which it is used is still an open one.

J. W. Emery, food commissioner of Wisconsin, and the president of the association, opposed Secretary Wilson and the Hansen board. He asserts there is no need for any kind of chemical preservative in food products.

After the Hansen board members spoke, a special committee, appointed by President Emery, gave its opinion of the board's findings. It was reported that some of the members of this committee had decided to accept Secretary Wilson's attitude.

PLAY CARDS; LET BOYS DROWN.

Men Refuse to Stop Game to Save Two Lives.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 26.—Gordon Gates, 12 years old, and Robert Schumannsky, 14 years old, were drowned while learning to swim in a canal near the foot of Holcomb avenue.

Four men who were playing cards on the bank of the canal, refused to interrupt their game when a young man who had gone to the assistance of the drowning boys, called for help.

Counterfeiter is Freed.

Columbus, O., Aug. 26.—President Taft has commuted the sentence of Charles F. Kline, serving five years in the penitentiary for counterfeiting. Kline had served four previous terms in the Ohio prison.

CALLS TAFT A MACHINE TOOL.

Tillman Talks on President's Efforts to Break "Solid South."

Anderson, S. C., Aug. 26.—Addressing an audience of 10,000 here at a reunion of the "Red Shirt" men who in 1876 wrested the political machinery of the state from the negroes and carpet baggers, United States Senator Tillman declared President Taft is "the tool of a great political machine" and that the president's appointment of census enumerators in the south is but a furtherance of his efforts to break the "solid south."

Senator Tillman warned the people of the state against compulsory education, saying it would prepare the negroes for the ballot and might, in time, result in their controlling elections in South Carolina.

HAMBURG BELLE IS TURF QUEEN

Trots a Mile in 2:01 1/4 in a Race with Uhlman.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 26.—Hamburg Belle defeated Uhlman in two straight heats in their match race at North Randall and also set a new world's record for a trotting race and for the fastest two heats ever trotted.

The new record for a mile is 2:01 1/4 and was made in the first heat of the race. The former record of 2:03 1/4 was held by Croesus. After the first heat Hamburg Belle was sold to H. M. Hanna of this city for $50,000 by Edward and Joseph Madden, sons of John E. Madden.

MURDERS HIS FORMER FRIEND.

Missouri Farmers in a Romance and a Tragedy.

Gallatin, Mo., Aug. 26.—John Ward, a wealthy farmer, was shot and killed by Otis Claycomb, another farmer, at the latter's home here. Three weeks ago Mrs. Claycomb left home and Ward went to the Claycomb home to secure the woman's personal effects. The Claycombs have been married 20 years and have six children. Mrs. Claycomb is 38 years of age, her husband 37 and Ward 58. Mrs. Ward died a year ago after a long illness, during which she was nursed by Mrs. Claycomb.

Ad. Men Meet in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 26.—Louisville is fairly swarming today with men who know all there is to know about advertising. They have come to attend the fifth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, which opened this morning. E. D. Gibbs of Chicago is the president and is in the chair. The convention lasts three days, and it is evident already that the ad. men have no intention of spending all the time in business sessions, for extensive plans of entertainment have been made.

Elk Shot at Initiation.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 26.—During an initiation in the Elks' lodge here, Cleve Cox, who was helping conduct the initiation, was shot through the leg with a .32-caliber bull from a cartridge that was thought to be blank.

"American Beauty" Rose.
The true name of what is now called the American Beauty rose is the Mme. Ferdinand Jannin. The name American Beauty was given to this magnificent bloom by Field Bros. of Washington. Why it should have been renamed no one now can tell, although it is supposed that it was done in a measure to add to its popularity. The renaming of it is said to have been accidental in part.

At a Disadvantage.
"It's all right to talk to some men about climbing the ladder of success," said a New Yorker who is trying to raise a family of seven on $14 a week, "but when a man is flat on the ground and the ladder is standing on top of him, it ain't a fair line of preaching."

Cypress Has Longer Life.
Water tanks of white pine used on railway work, states the Engineering Record, have in the past had a maximum life of 20 years, while the maximum life of cypress is 25 years.

Goldfish Died of Fright.
A woman who nursed three goldfish in a small aquarium tank graced with aquatic plants thought she would add a blizzard touch to her water garden by dropping into the tank a gayly colored celluloid alligator she had picked up at a ten cent counter. She dropped the alligator. One of the goldfish instantly leaped several inches above the water, flopped back inert and never moved again. The mistress of the goldfish was sure her darling had died of fright.

ONE WEEK KITCHEN CABINET SALE PRICES REDUCED

There Isn't Any Let Up to Kitchen Work

THE three meals must be prepared every day in the year. You cannot get out of that, but you can make it easier and do it in half the usual time.

Think how long it takes you to get ready to do your work the way you are doing it now—to collect all the utensils and materials—and put them away again—some in the pantry—some in the cupboard—and some in other places around the kitchen.

That is the biggest part of the job—the most disagreeable part.

It is this part of the work that a Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet does away with—by grouping utensils and materials in complete combination pantry and kitchen table so you can do your work all in one place.

It will give you half the time you now spend in the kitchen for other things. It is not the actual work that takes the biggest part of your time—it is the getting ready for it and putting things away.
